JUST A THOUGHT: During our professional development days last week, we focused on Mindsets and how powerful they are. We were encouraged to consciously look for opportunities to see others – and ourselves – in a positive way. Too, we were challenged to make the world a bit better by seeking ways to help others, in great or small ways. I am blessed in my school community to see so many students, faculty and staff members, and parents making service a part of each day. Please know that I am sincerely grateful to all of you for all that you do!
